The Oconee County Public Library is celebrating Star Wars Day with the launch of limited edition Baby Yoda/Grogu library cards. Baby Yoda library cards are just like normal library cards; they open up a galaxy of adventures through the library's books, DVDs, digital materials, audios, kits, and more. Anyone who signs up for a library card can select the limited edition card or current OCPL card holders can replace their old card with a new Baby Yoda card for free (normally a $2 fee). These cards will launch on Wednesday, May the Fourth (be with you), and be available until supplies run out. Don't forget to celebrate your new card by taking pictures in selfie stations available at the Salem, Seneca, and Westminster branches. As always, library cards are free for anyone who works, lives, or owns property in Oconee County. For further information, contact the library at 864-364-5760 or visit www.oconeelibrary.org.
